To report animal abuse call (619) 243-3466

Serving San Diego County since 1880, the San Diego Humane Society and SPCA's scope of social responsibility goes beyond adopting animals. The Humane Society offers San Diegans a wide range of programs and services that strengthen the human-animal bond, prevent cruelty/neglect, provide medical care and educate the community on the humane treatment of animals.

As one of San Diego's oldest nonprofit organizations, the Humane Society has campuses in both San Diego and Oceanside, as well as an adoption center inside the El Cajon Petco store. The Humane Society is supported, solely through contributions, grants, bequests, investments, proceeds from the MuttiQue retail store, and small fees for services.

For your privacy, the Humane Society does not sell, rent, lend or exchange its mailing or contributor lists. The only way your email address could ever be used for a purpose other than what you intended is if you choose to opt-in to a service by providing your explicit consent.

Dr. Gary Weitzman has a weekly radio program called "The Animal House" on KPBS 89.5. The program offers expert advice on all pet-related questions, and aims to deepen human understanding of animals and explain the powerful bonds between humans and animals.

You can submit your pet questions to animalhouse@wamu.org or via the listener phone-in number 877.610.3647. Tune in to KPBS 89.5 FM every Saturday at 5am and Sunday at 7pm to hear the show!

WE'VE GOT MAIL

Do you have a happy adoption story to share? Then we'd love to hear from you! Visit www.sdhumane.org and go to the Success Stories page for more details.

"My husband and I adopted a blue pit bull from the San Diego Humane Society last January. Her name was Peanut, but has since changed post adoption to Charlee Boots (she has all white paws).

She is the most friendly and lovable pup a family could ever dream of. Everyone that comes across her falls in love with her and her goofy personality. She isn't the most coordinated pooch, but she manages to chase the ball and wrestle with her older sister Emma Rose. I'm pretty sure she thinks she's a little Bichon mix like her sister since she lies on top of you to cuddle any chance she gets.

My husband and I would like to thank you for saving Charboots, and allowing us the opportunity to make her a part of our family. We are truly blessed and absolutely love having her in our family. We appreciate everything you do for animals, and are thankful you gave Charlee a second chance."

Julia & Adam

"Buddy and I just got back from our road trip to Utah, Colorado and Oregon and he loved every bit of it. He got dirty when we went camping and had fun. I've had him for over a year now and it seems like it hasn't even been six months, but I am so happy with him. I will have to bring him by to say hi soon."

Becky & Buddy

"We adopted Milo, a Pug/Chow Chow mix in 2008 from the Central Campus and he has been the smartest, most loving dog we've ever had. He loves to go everywhere we go, including our office. He goes to work every day. Milo even has his own tie for the office, but usually wears a simple bandana for a more casual look!

He was a groomsman in my son's wedding last year and even danced with guests at the reception. He is "the boss" like all the staff at the office like to call him and he loves every minute of it. He is my inspiration and gives me more joy than anyone could ever imagine!"

The Gupta Family

"My husband and I discussed it beforehand, and knew that we wanted a senior cat over the age of 10. I went to the San Diego Humane Society and viewed the seniors and knew that we wanted a female. Sia put her head in my hand and I pretty much knew she was the one.

Sia is a 14-year-old cat who at times has no idea how old she is. She loves being brushed and loves her bed. She is a beautiful little lady and we just could not imagine life without her. I strongly encourage others to adopt a "senior" as they have so much life and love to give."

Gina (Humane Society Volunteer)

"We adopted Edward in November 2012. We arrived with intentions of adopting a kitten but after walking around, we noticed a sign on his kennel saying he had been there for more than 100 days. After finding out that he had been adopted before and given up for reasons we have yet to see, we had to have an interaction with him. As soon as he entered the room we immediately fell in love and adopted him. We have 2 big dogs that absolutely love their fur brother. He acts more like the dogs than a cat, he even comes running when you call him. He has definitely made himself at home."

Teaching the Youth of Today to Shape a Compassionate Tomorrow

On the surface, our Youth Education Programs focus on teaching children about animals and how to interact with them safely and appropriately, which are valuable lessons. But in teaching these skills, we're also helping children learn a much greater lesson – the importance of respecting all living things.

Last year our Humane Education programs reached more than 22,000 children, and their personal experiences demonstrate the link between how people treat animals and how they treat each other.

Children of all ages have the opportunity to enjoy and learn about animals in a variety of ways:

Animal Adventure Camp

Kids 5-13 years old spend their school breaks learning about and interacting with our adoptable animals. Not only do we offer week-long sessions during the spring and summer, we offer one and two-day camps during school holidays. Year-long opportunities for animal-loving kids!

Spring sessions start March 31
Summer sessions start in June.
For registration and information:
Education Department

Birthday Parties

What better place for a young animal lover to spend their birthday than at the San Diego Humane Society? Children will enjoy humane education-based games, crafts and at least three personal animal experiences with the animal friends of their choice.

Tots and Tales

An interactive story-time program for toddlers, this program offers stories, crafts, visits with animals and more.

Scout Programs

Girl Scouts of all ages can earn requirements toward animal-related Journey badges! We also have Scout programs that address community service needs, as well as practice leadership by working together for the sake of the animals. We will also help Scouts achieve their Bronze, Silver and Gold awards.

Home-School Programs

Home-school elementary aged students can join us for California-Standards based programs. Combine fun and education with our innovative lessons and hands-on teaching.

Outreach

Humane, science and character lessons are taken directly to schools four days a week. These lessons meet the California Standards assisting teachers in meeting their classroom goals, while educating students on proper care for the animals in their homes and our community. We tailor programs for all age groups with lessons focusing on issues such as Dog Bite Prevention, Responsible Pet Care, Careers with Animals, and more.

Visit www.sdhumane.org for more information about these programs.

▲ Celebrating Pembroke's New Life!

You may recognize Pembroke because he was one of our long-term animals featured in the "Pets in the Spotlight" in the Summer 2013 issue of Animal Fare.

Pembroke spent about 10 months in our care, so needless to say, we got to know him pretty well. His rough and tumble play style and strong athletic build made it challenging to find the right family fit. Our Senior Trainers worked extensively on his excitable behaviors, teaching him manners, tricks and much more.

Joe (Pembroke's new dad) met with Pembroke several times to be sure he could give Pembroke the type of home he needed, and adopted Pembroke just before the 4th of July holiday. With a large house, active playmate, dedicated family, and lots of acreage to run, Joe offered the perfect home for Pembroke (now Bentley)!

He now spends his days hiking, playing tug of war and rough housing with his sister. Bentley is a great example how time, love and attention can turn a very active pup into a wonderful, thriving canine companion!

▲ Barktoberfest was a Howling Success!

199 dogs and puppies found loving homes during National Adopt-a-Shelter Dog Month in October. We were also happy to see people and their pets understand the importance of pet identification with 307 microchips and 259 engraved name tags given away for FREE. October wouldn't be complete without a celebration of our pit bull friends! The 2nd Annual Dare to Bull-ieve event honored 10 wonderful pit bull ambassadors in our community. They were all winners, but Diesel was voted the "Best Ambassador!" A special thanks to Phil Pace of Phil's BBQ, Arden Moore of Pet Life Radio, and our President, Dr. Gary Weitzman, for judging this sweet and talented group of pitties. Lastly, hats off to Perette Godwin of CW6 for emceeding the event.

▲ Patriotic Paws

We receive calls several times a week from frantic military members who are faced with deployment or relocation and are in need of options for their pets. Through our new program, we are able to work with military families to find foster programs and other resources that are available to them nationwide. We also host regular pre-deployment briefings so that military can make plans for their pets long before they are faced with deployment or relocation. Fortunately, serving your country doesn't mean you have to lose your pet. For more information on this program, contact Brianne Youngberg at 760-757-4357 x2021.

▲ Companion Circle Celebration

More than 200 Companion Circle donors and their guests attended the 2nd Annual Companion Circle Reception on October 29th. The San Diego Humane Society is proud to honor these generous individuals, corporations and foundations who gave gifts of $500 or more in the last fiscal year. These annual contributions help us fulfill our mission on behalf of the animals in our community. Donors had the opportunity to see their names on the updated annual giving wall, tour the facility and hear about our upcoming initiatives from President Dr. Gary Weitzman. For more information on the Companion Circle, please call Steve Reitman at 619-243-3469 or email sreitman@sdhumane.org.

◀ TRUST: Building a Compassionate Society

TRUST (Teaching Respect Using Sympathy and Training) is an after-school program designed to teach our youth to have compassion and respect for all living things. Throughout the program, students nurture and train animals using positive reinforcement training methods. The program also aims to empower participants to explore careers in the animal welfare field, develop self-confidence and identify ways they can contribute towards building a more compassionate society. Each month-long session concludes with a graduation ceremony, celebrating the students' dedication and success. Some students who have completed the program return as "Junior Volunteers" in order to help new participants and animals.

BFF!

Marley + Zoe

The ability to form powerful connections with one another is not unique to humans...

The animals around us have proven time and time again that their capacity, even need, for relationship can be every bit as strong as ours.

After arriving to the San Diego Humane Society, it did not take long for Melody and Long Legs to become best of friends. The staff at the San Diego Humane Society even notated:

"Long Legs and Melody do very well together in their kennel... They lay intertwined on their bed and if you take Melody out and leave Long Legs in the kennel, he begins to whine..."

It was clear that these two had a very special connection. So it was somewhat bittersweet when Long Legs was adopted by a family in February of 2012, and forced to leave his dear friend behind. A couple of months later, Melody was also adopted by a wonderful family of her own, and it seemed clear that theirs was a friendship destined to be fleeting.

Then, about a year after adopting Melody (renamed Zoe), her family started visiting the San Diego Humane Society again, this time looking for a friend for her. But after meeting several dogs, they just hadn't been able to find the right fit.

Meanwhile, it was with heavy hearts that the family who had adopted Long Legs (renamed Marley) also returned, but for a very different reason. They had fallen under hard times and were forced to move, ultimately finding themselves in an apartment that did not allow pit bulls. After unsuccessfully seeking out foster options, they finally had to make the difficult decision to bring Marley back to us.

Knowing the bond that these two dogs shared, the staff at the San Diego Humane Society knew just what to do. They contacted Zoe's family, who were still looking for a new friend for Zoe, and told them about Marley and the doggies' connection over a year prior while in our care. They arrived to adopt Marley within the hour.

It's now been a couple of months since the old friends were reunited and they couldn't be happier, according to their family. These two special doggies ultimately get to share far more than friendship. They get to share a loving family and home, as well.

Food Drive to Support Project KEPPT

All of us here at the San Diego Humane Society and SPCA continue to be amazed by the multitude of ways our partners in the community support our work. We would like to extend a huge and heartfelt thank you to: California Coast Credit Union, Paw Pleasers, The Golden Paw, The Patio on Lamont, Luv SD Surf, Underground Elephant, Calibamboo.com and VCA Animal Hospitals.

Each of these companies recently participated in a two-week-long food drive to help support Project KEPPT (Keeping Every Person and Pet Together). This important program provides pet care supplies, services and resources to people during times of hardship, so they can keep their pets as part of the family instead of relinquishing them to a local shelter. We are touched by the outpouring of support this food drive received – the businesses collected more than two months worth of pet food for our food bank! Every single one of these donations will go towards helping people and their pets stay together. We are so appreciative to all the companies and participants who helped make this food drive such a success! Countless animal and human lives will be impacted by your kindness, compassion and generous participation. On their behalf, we offer sincere thanks.

Reaching Out, Renewing Hope

Help is at the Very Heart of Project KEPPT

"If not for the resources provided through Project KEPPT, I would have been forced to find another home for my cats who are my life." – Nancy G.

Nancy G., a participant of Project KEPPT (Keeping Every Person and Pet Together), describes the program and its services as "...beyond words – a life-saving blessing and comfort." The loving owner of four cats, one of whom is 15 years old and requires daily insulin for his diabetes, relies on the Project KEPPT Pet Food Banks and additional monthly services to help keep her family together.

COVER STORY

Nancy is certainly not alone in needing a little extra help to care for her furry family. Over the past years, most everyone has felt the impact of the nation's economic recession in one way or another, and for many in our community, maintaining economic stability remains an ongoing battle.

When Christine R. was laid off from her job and struggling to make her mortgage payments, she found the help and hope that she needed through Project KEPPT's support. Christine states that she'd sooner deprive herself of food and supplies than fail to provide for her beloved pets – two dogs and two birds. Thankfully, this program has prevented her from needing to go down that road. "It has enabled me to give my pets the quality of food they require and also be able to afford their additional needs – flea medication, vet bills and vaccinations. It was a blessing that a friend told me about this."

Such expressions of gratitude are music to the ears of Project KEPPT's volunteers, who delight in the opportunity to help fellow members of the community during difficult times. "Animals truly enrich people's lives. The bond between animals and humans can provide so much joy to both. I hate the thought of anyone having to give up a pet due to financial hardship, and this program aims to avoid that happening," says volunteer, Jolene S.

Sharing Jolene's sentiments, volunteer Clara adds, "As a pet owner, I know how devastated I would be if I had to give up my pets for some reason out of my control, which is what program participants often face. Seeing people's gratitude for the food banks, low-cost vaccination clinics, and toys and treats handed out during mobile drives is always so rewarding."

Project KEPPT consists of several monthly Pet Food Banks, which distribute food and pet supplies to its participants and are often offered in conjunction with licensing/vaccination clinics at both San Diego Humane Society locations. This program also participates in numerous outreach efforts through its community partnerships with other social welfare organizations.

This year alone, Project KEPPT has been able to assist more than 9,000 people through its food banks, mobile events and homeless outreach. This translates into more than 11,000 animals impacted in our community. These are pets of individuals who want to provide them the very best, but who are struggling under the weight of financial hardship and just need a little help to do so.

Help is what is at the very heart of Project KEPPT. Whether it's through the direct care and shelter we offer the homeless animals of our community, the voice given to the voiceless through our Humane Law Enforcement, or the assistance we provide to community members who need a little help keeping their family together during financial hardship; we are dedicated to helping the animals of this community, and the people who love them.

"The bond that is formed between people and their pets is so important, and by keeping people's animals with them, we are giving them hope that their situation will improve," says Anyah Hoang, Project KEPPT Program Manager. "Project KEPPT renews hope for the people and animals we serve."

Project KEPPT is in need of pet food to benefit animals and people in need! Donations of unopened dog or cat food can be made at the Admissions Desk at our Central Campus at 5500 Gaines Street in San Diego, or the main lobby of our North Campus, 572 Airport Road in Oceanside.

Estate Planning

Can Giving Be Fun?

Have you ever purchased and wrapped the “perfect” gift for your family or close friend and watched with excitement as the person opens your gift? You knew it would be a hit and you could hardly stand the anticipation. Even though you were not the receiver, you enjoyed giving the gift because you knew it was just what the person needed and wanted.

A well planned charitable gift can bring happiness as well. When you take the time to discover what the charitable needs are and how you can structure your gift to do the most good, you find yourself anticipating the actual gift. You know it will be a hit.

The size of the gift is not what matters most. A gift that matches a specific need and accomplishes something worthwhile can be enormously rewarding. Think about how many programs and services you can support and promote, including the receiving and adoption of animals, education outreach programs, animal cruelty investigations, Pet-Assisted Therapy, and so much more.

You can fill out the form below or contact Nicole Angelucci, our Director of Planned Giving to make your gift. Nicole is an attorney with a background in estate planning and is here to help answer your questions. Just give her a call at (619) 243-3443 or email her at nangelucci@sdhumane.org and she can help you have fun by making the perfect gift for the San Diego Humane Society and you.
